Reverend Backflash is a classic four-piece Rock'n'Roll band based in Vienna. Not holding themselves back with trending styles, these boys unflinchingly cherish their '77 Punk attitude, determined not to give up on their affinity to Powerpop and Country. Addicted to the Ramones, in love with Cheap Trick and fucked by Kiss, this is the sound that will make you go the extra mile at any party. So let your guard down and prepare for a Rock Show your friends will talk about for ages.

THE BAND

Jack Nasty (voc/guit), Stevo Cannonball (guit/voc), Andy W. Gold (bass), Max Lightning (drums)

THE RECORD

To release their third studio album 'TOO LITTLE TOO LATE', Reverend Backflash signed with Pogo's Empire, the new label of Marco Pogo, undisputed enfant terrible of Austria's music biz. Twelve fast and super-catchy Rock'n'Roll tracks give proof that, even if you have to grow older, there ain't no reason to grow up! Living up to the concept of 'feeling comes before perfection', the recording was mostly done in a live session within just a day and a half. No wonder this record captures the energy of the well-known and vibrant live-performances of the band like never before.
